Remembering Our "Missing Angels"
Because all our Children Matter

We created www.missingangel.org for two reasons:

First, to honor the memory of all stillborn babies by acknowledging that ,despite their death, they passed through this world at a point in time and are worthy of remembrance.

Second, to provide friends, family and the public a place to visit and see that stillborn babies for the most any other baby who, but for a tragic event, won't be going home.

Parents, friends and family members are invited to support the fight against stillbirth and the 30,000 babies' lives it claims every year by making a tax-deductible donation. Though we are non-profit and relay mostly on volunteers it still takes money to pay for printing, postage, advertising, our web site maintenance, telephones, and brochures. Any surplus we generate goes to support stillbirth education and the Kick's Count campaign of our affiliate, The National Stillbirth Society.
